Dear Undergraduate Researchers (and Faculty Mentors):

Congratulations! The Undergraduate Research Committee has selected your oral presentation for inclusion in the 2024 Scholars' Day Undergraduate Research Conference on Tuesday, April 23, 2024.

Your presentation will be scheduled on a panel with other students. The panels will take place in one-hour time slots from 12:30-1:30, 1:40-2:40, 2:50-3:50, and 4:00-5:00 in the Pafford building. During your time slot, you will have 10-15 minutes to present your research depending on the number of panel members. There will be at least 15 minutes for questions and comments at the end of each panel. A moderator will be present at your panel to keep track of time, to facilitate the Q&A sessions, and to assist with technology. Since panels will take place in Pafford classrooms, a computer, projector, and screen will be available.

Within the next few days, I will send a draft program with the time and location of your panel. Unfortunately, we are generally unable to accept requests for particular times. Please be in conversation with your professors if your panel coincides with a scheduled class.

Additional information about the conference is available here. Don't hesitate to contact me with questions. I look forward to being in contact with further details!

Best wishes,
Dr. Jeff Zamostny
